PREFACE

IN THE INTERVAL since publication of the last edition of the General Catalogue of Dartmouth College in 1925 the number of living alumni has approximately doubled. In the present volume biographical information about one-half of the alumni body is carried for the first time. Notes on the arrangement of material in this record, designed to make clear the abbreviations, and arrangement of sections of the book, are given below.

Editions of the Register of Living Alumni were published in 1935 and 1930 as records of occupations and addresses, but without more detailed biographical data. Prior to the 1925 edition of the General Catalogue, earlier editions, carrying biographical information in some detail, appeared in 1911 and 1900. Interim publications of the Register containing only names and addresses of living graduates were published in 1920, 1915, and 1905. The first General Catalogue may be traced back to 1779. From 1795 to 1873 the General Catalogue was published regularly in book form as a Triennial, all being printed in Latin, except the last.

The total number of alumni included in this Catalogue is 32,028. Since the College was founded in 1769, there have been 18,491 bachelors' degrees awarded, and 8,290 men have matriculated in the undergraduate College but did not graduate. The total number noted above (32,028) is secured by adding to the 26,781 men enrolled in undergraduate work the alumni of the Associated Schools, advanced and honorary degree holders, and special students. The figures for living alumni, as this book goes to press, are 12,442 graduates, 5,765 non-graduates, and others giving a total of living alumni of 19,006.

The Alumni Records Office will be glad to receive information correcting or adding to the biographical data, addresses, and other material appearing in this edition of the General Catalogue. Correct addresses are essential and are of vital importance to the Alumni Records Office at all times. The work of Miss Charlotte E. Ford, Alumni Recorder of the College, is gratefully acknowledged by the editors of the General Catalogue. Over a period of years she and her staff have prepared for publication of this book and have attempted in every way possible to compile and maintain up-to-date and complete records on all men who have ever been associated in any way with Dartmouth College. The fact that there are now only a few alumni whose addressess are not known is evidence of the excellent work done by the Alumni Records Office.

In using this volume, the following notes may be helpful, since it has been necessary to abbreviate and use symbols to condense the voluminous material within reasonable space limits.

Indexes

At the top of the first page of the General Index of names of all alumni in this volume (see page 1096) will be found a note describing symbols carried therein.

Reference to the special index (see page 1023) of names of officers of the College, past and present, (including trustees, administration, faculty, and others) may be helpful in locating their brief biographies.

The geographical index (see page 1031) includes symbols for occupations, following names, for which a key is given at the beginning of the index.

Degrees

All graduates received the A.B. degree unless there is other indication. The letter s following a name indicates enrollment in the Chandler Scientific Department which existed as a separate division of the College, 1852-1893, in which graduates received the degree of B.S.

The A.M. degree (Master of Arts), listed without date of award, indicates the degree in course automatically conferred on payment of $5 "on graduates of three years' standing who had sustained good characters and been engaged in literary pursuits." A few degrees of M.S. (Master of Science) were similarly conferred. The custom was discontinued in 1894.

Where no college is indicated following the naming of a degree, it was received from Dartmouth. In the biographies of teachers and administrative officers, where no college is indicated, the service is at Dartmouth.

Class Affiliation

All graduates are listed in the class with which they received their degrees. Cross reference is made, however, if they have expressed preference for listing with some other class. A man, for example, may have entered college with the class of 1918, but did not receive his degree until 1919. He is, therefore, listed with his academic class of 1919 and the full biography is given in the pages devoted to that class, with cross reference from any other sections of the book where his name may appear. He may, however, be identified with the class of 1918 for social purposes, attendance at reunions, contributions to the Alumni Fund, and actually in all other respects except listing in this book, which is an official record of the degrees awarded by the College.

Non-Graduates

Men who matriculated at Dartmouth, but did not graduate, are listed with the classes with which they entered College. The years noted in parentheses indicate the period of attendance of non-graduates.

In the case of Medical School non-graduates only the home town and medical degree received from another college is given, since little biographical material is available for most of these men. In many cases, however, the Alumni Records Office has more complete data on non-graduates of the Medical School and will be glad to furnish this information upon request.

Biographical Data

In the biographies of living alumni the attempt is made to give a full description of each man's title, name of firm or professional connection, and nature of his work. Where no answers were received to the questionnaires recently distributed to the whole alumni body, information already in the Alumni Records files has been used. Only one address is listed and this is either the home or office address, depending on which one the man has indicated he wished used.

In faculty biographies the degrees given are those held at the time of Dartmouth service only. No data is given on careers prior to or subsequent to the period of teaching at Dartmouth, except for full professors who are degree-holders from Dartmouth. The departments of the faculty are arranged alphabetically and names of teachers within departments are arranged chronologically by date of first appointment to the College staff.

Symbols

Attention is called to the following key to symbols:

a advanced degrees	tb Thayer School
b honorary degrees	s (In Index) Special Student
